Gavin Lewis recurs across all three seasons of Apple TV+'s Emmy nominated dramedy SHRINKING. The series stars Jason Segel & Harrison Ford and hales from the creative team behind TED LASSO (Bill Lawrence and his Doozer team, along with Brett Goldstein). Gavin also appeared opposite Michael Chernus in Peacock's limited series DEVIL IN DISGUISE: JOHN WAYNE GACY playing Timothy McCoy (Gacy's famed first victim).

In film, Gavin starred opposite Tim Blake Nelson & Stephen Dorff in Hideout Films' western thriller OLD HENRY, directed by Potsy Ponciroli.

Gavin is known for his role opposite Reese Witherspoon & Kerry Washington in Hulu's limited series LITTLE FIRES EVERYWHERE, based on Celeste Ng's best-selling novel of the same name. He was also a Series Regular in HBO Max's reboot of the popular 1980s sitcom HEAD OF THE CLASS (also produced by Bill Lawrence & the Doozer team). Gavin's first major role in TV was the lead & title character in Netflix's multi-cam comedy PRINCE OF PEORIA (playing "Prince Emil").

The son of two theatre professionals, Gavin was classically trained at a very young age. He began his career on stage playing the young prince Arthur in Shakespeare's King John. He has appeared in a diverse range of television series, including Paramount Digital's Maximum Ride, Syfy's feature Ominous and NCIS: Los Angeles. Continuing with his theatre roots, Gavin starred in The Heart of Robin Hood at the Wallis Annenberg Center for the Performing Arts in Los Angeles.
